

Preschool – K
(can be modified for Grades 1 and 2)

ANIMAL DEFENSES

Lawrence Hall of Science • University of California at Berkeley

Session 1

What You Need

For each student:

- 1 pencil
- 1 4½" x 6" sheet of green construction paper for the defenseless animal
- 1 container of white paste or glue
- 1 pair of scissors

For the group:

- posters of Tyrannosaurus rex, Stegosaurus, and Triceratops (masters included on pages 17–19)
- patterns for cutouts:
 - Defenseless animal (pattern A, master included on page 14)
 - Tyrannosaurus rex (pattern B, master included on page 15)
 - Volcano (pattern C, master included on page 16)
- 1 9" x 12" sheet of brown construction paper for Tyrannosaurus rex
- 2 9" x 12" sheets of green construction paper for the paper ferns
- 1 paper punch for making eyes
- 1 large pair of scissors for precutting
- 1 tray for the demonstration
- newspaper (enough to cover the work tables and the demonstration tray)
- 1 roll of transparent tape
- 1 overhead projector
- 1 projector screen, or light-colored wall (You can also use a large piece of white paper, at least 4' x 6', or a white cloth sheet and masking tape.)

Sessions 2

What You Need

For the group:

- toy animals or large animal photographs representing animals that live today
- large color illustrations from dinosaur books
- 1 large paper bag